WAR ISSUES STRONG

General Electric and General Motors Reach High Levels and Other

After Saturday's weakness and iresolution, due to liquidation and the beence of the most active traders. stocks took a brace to-day and prices held comparatively steady after a strong opening. Apparently the forecurate, for the forthcoming correspondence does not appear to affect the market. The so-called war issues showed substantial gains to-day. General Electric, which is reported to have aken a $75,000,000 munitions contract rom the ailies, advanced 4 1-2 points to 168 1-2, a new high record. Westnghouse and Crucible Steel also opened up. Automobile issues were strong, General Motors jumping five points to 157, a new high record.

Standard railway stocks held largely in Europe opened strong here and in London, but sagged off on the report that Amsterdam is selling Canadian Pacific and other international stocks in anticipation of Holiand entering the war.

A 3% point jump in Bethlehem Steel and further gains in Coppers were the features of the final hour. The closing was irregular. pened up. Automobile issues were light and Cushing. It is expected to do the same regarding the Nebraskan casts of President Wilson's reply to as soon as German responsibility is the German note are accepted as ac- demonstrated. The object is to eliminate completely from the controversy all strictly American cases and leave the President only the case of the Lusitania, an English ship, as the basis of his demands.

Ambassador Gerard reported to day that the German Admiralty had no report on the Nebraskan but was conducting an investigation.

In the note of Feb. 10 the President asked Germany to "give assurance that American citizens and their vesseis will not be molested otherwise than by visit and search." This is practically granted already by Germany. The note of May 13 goes a stop further and demands protection of American citizens on merchant ships even of belligerents. This includes the Lusitania case. Here is where the policy of the two Governments splits.

Since it has become fairly well nown that the coming American note holds steadfastly to this broad policy of protection for American citizens wherever they may be, even on belligerent merchant ships, attention is now directed to what will be the result of this reiteration of our

GERMANY MAY DRAG OUT THE CONTROVERSY.

The predictions in official circles are that there will be no immediate tefinite answer from Germany. The Kaiser's policy will depend upon military events. The Berlin Foreign Office is expected to drag out the controversy until there are decisive results in the German campaign against

One of the most delicate points involved is the suggestion of Foreign Minister Von Jagow that certain features might be submitted to The Hague convention for investigation. The United States has been a strong upholder of The Hague system of peaceful settlement of disputes, but in this case Germany does not make an appeal with clean hands. She has already violated so many of the solemn contracts entered into at The Hague convention that until she abides by them the United States cannot join in such a proposition.

The President declines to be side-tracked from the main issue. He earnestly wishes to have Germany meet this Government fairly and squarely on questions of principle first, and then all specific cases can be dealt with in detail in accordance with the mutual understanding.
